

SIMPLE DAILY LIFE

Life can be seen as a mix of work and fun. Each day we get up, wash, eat and go to job or to a class. Some men go to a big shop, some go to a mill and some sit at a desk. Kids go to a school and play in the lot. All have some task to do and all seek to do it in the best way. When sun is up, the sky is lit and we⁸⁰ can see the joy of the new day. The air is new and the mood is set to be glad. Men and boy walk to the job and gals and kid sing as they go. A bell may ring, a horn may honk and a cart may roll by on the way. At job, men must do the set sum of work. Some may cut, some may add sum of fig on a pad. The head will ask that all¹⁶⁰ work be done in time and with care. When the bell is rung at mid day, all stop, eat a hot bit of food and chat with each other. They tell of kin, of home, of land and of all fun in past. At end of day, work is done and the sun goes low. Men go back to kin. Kid run to mom and dad. All sit and eat rice, dal, veg and roti. They talk of the day.²⁴⁰ Some play a sit game, some sung a song and some rest. In such way, the home is full of joy and love. On Sunday or on a day of fest, men do not go to job. Such days give rest to the bod and the mind. Life is not just work, it is more. It is a mix of job, play, kin and joy. When we live with a kind act, a soft word and a glad face then our life is at its best.³²⁶
